

Food Safety Seminar Series

SPRING 2025

Amy Parks, PhD
Director of Global FSQA
Governance and Regulatory
Compliance for Dole

“MANAGING GLOBAL FOOD SAFETY RISKS”

Dr. Amy Parks is the Director of Global FSQA Governance and Regulatory Compliance for Dole plc. She is responsible for working globally with all Dole divisions to develop and implement a harmonized global food safety program. Prior to Dole, she has held various roles supporting multiple sectors of the food industry including Schreiber Foods, Merieux NutriSciences, and McCain Foods. To complement her more than 18 years of experience, Amy's formal training includes a B.S. in Animal Science from Oklahoma State University, an M.S. in Food Technology and a Ph.D. in Food Microbiology from Texas Tech University where she focused on food safety. Amy is passionate about facilitating improvements by understanding the intricacies of a process and uncovering the whys behind those steps all while working with process owners. Through this process, she engages key stakeholders and business partners to discover and implement sustainable changes to improve food safety. One of her other food safety interests is to develop studies that are reflective of real-life processes or scenarios so meaningful data can be used to drive business decisions. Outside of work, she can be found reading, quilting, or spending time with her husband and two dogs.

Wednesday, February 26, 2025 at 12:00 pm (CDT)

<https://unl.zoom.us/j/99498161362>

Meeting ID: 994 9816 1362

